

The Yoxford Yappa!

Edition 84

December 2024

A Note from the Editor

“Fasten your seatbelts, its going to be a bumpy night”

Bette Davis “All About Eve”

After 8 years, 84 editions and numerous Yappa Extras, the “self appointed Editor” of this Internationally renowned “local rag” is hanging up his quill. Spending all this time at the epicentre of the Yoxford Bubble has been exhausting. Maintaining a 24 hour news cycle and a global network of staff has been a joy but requires more time than is realistic for one person.

The Yapper is proud to have broken numerous stories of national and global significance such as the Islamist infiltration of the Flower Show Committee, The Watergate break in at the Village Hall and the international crime gang trafficking slave labour through the Allotments. Among the stories that never made it to print however were the name of the village man used as the model for the Yoxman and what did happen at Oak Tree Farm Bed and Breakfast to rude guests who were never heard from again! The answers to these questions and others remain with this editor who would never reveal his sources.

A long break is called for, growing vegetables in the Independent European Protectorate of Oak Tree Farm, writing a memoir “A Gay old time in the Countryside” and completing an exhaustive eight volume work on the history of Donkey Meadow from the neolithic to the present day complete with detailed drawings of the dessicated and fossilised remains contained therein.

It will be for a future generation of fearless Yapper journalists to expose the truth about whether Donald Trump was behind an attempted insurrection against the Parish Council, what did Angela Merkel do after too much Leibfraumilch and glue wein at the G7 Summit at the Griffin, and which cottage in Little St was the home of the craftsman who taught Keir Starmer’s father to be a toolmaker?

So for now this editor is off to have a cup of tea and listen to the Archers to see if Jill Archer has made a batch of fruit scones for afternoon tea.

As Humphrey Bogart famously said, “We’ll always have Paris”
