

As we come to the last half-term of the year, I like to reflect and look back upon past terms. We have survived another lockdown and worked together to ensure that all the children are achieving and progressing. Whether this is academically or socially. Together we have ensured that the children are able to achieve the best start in life. I am confident that this will continue. A massive thank you from me!

This half term we will be looking around the world and comparing different countries to our own. As part of this, we will be looking at different cultures, customs and traditions from different countries as well as appreciating music that originate from them.

In English, we will be using great explorers, such as Shackleton, Cook and Scott, for inspiration as we write our own adventure narrative. Followed by writing a diary entry. In Maths, we will be continuing to develop our measuring skills looking at how to read scales, capacity and mass. As well as developing our knowledge and understanding of time. In Science, our focus will be looking at animals including humans, thinking about how we grow into adults and discuss the basic needs of a human.

Reminder:

Keep reading with your child at home.

Also, please keep checking the school website - it has more information about our skills based curriculum and is being updated with more information regularly. This is a busy term with lots planned (Sports Day, Play, etc.), keep checking the website/Miss Jerman's newsletter for all these dates and information.

Stay in contact! Send us lots of pictures of things happening outside of school - we love sharing these in the classroom. Upload them onto Google Classroom for us all to see - could be pets, favourite toys/books, adventures etc.

Please send your child into school with a filled water bottle each day. These will be sent home each day and are to be washed and refilled ready for the next day.

☺ Stay safe and keep smiling! ☺
